Dear Christian,

Feedback from Self Insurers Association on SIRA's proposed Standard of Practice relating to COVID-19 (Coronavirus) pandemic

After careful and reasoned consultation with our association the overwhelming view is that it is both unnecessary and unhelpful to suggest any amendment to the standard of practice to accommodate COVID-19 (or indeed any other similar condition should it arise).

The alterations proposed are, in members experience, unnecessary and are likely to operate adversely to the interests of workers and employers. The current legislation, regulations and standards are sufficient to deal with these current circumstances.

Kind Regards
